rying with it a series of bills, carefully drafted in conformity with it, which he could present to the legislature called in special session probably in February. The lawmakers would have nothing else to consider but these special matters, assigned solely for the making of Honolulu a better place in which to live, and for the protection of the lives of its citizens. The bills would not be subject to the usual log-rolling and bargain hunting tactics of the regular session, and thus would have every chance of passing—especially since there could be no very logical objection to the objects for which the measures should stand.

Governor Handicapped.

Instead of this, however, the report comes in four months late; contains little or no new data that have not already been pretty generally appreciated, and in such shape that it would be foolish to expect a body of legislators to do anything with it. To draft such bills as would carry into effect the recommendations of the commission is a matter which would require considerable time, even with expert attorneys, familiar with the ground covered by the commission, handling it. To have bills now drawn up by a new commission will take so much time that the heat of the fall campaign would be on before they could be ready, the most inopportune time possible for calling the legislature together.

Commission Divided.

It is true that there is probably no such pressing need for the new laws that the regular session of the legislature next February could not handle them; but, as pointed out above, the chances of getting through any satisfactory laws when all sections of the Territory are clamoring for recognition on pet projects, and every legislator is anxious to make as good a trade for his votes as possible, are much more remote.

It is rumored that things did not go smoothly in the commission, and that report finally submitted was not at all what some of the members wanted. Thus far, however, nothing had been openly said about these difficulties.

It is beginning to be believed by those conversant with the matter that Honolulu has been sacrificed on the altar of politics. In other words that former Governor Carter's fight against Governor Frear has been allowed to enter into his work as chairman of the commission, with the result that the chances of any actual good coming from its work are remote. It is stated that about $3000 was spent by the commission in its investigations; also that several times that amount would have been available for employment of competent assistance to draft bills or perform other work that would have expedited the work or added to its value. If the Governor's contingent fund was not sufficient, there is little doubt that the amount would readily have been raised from semi-public sources.

It is reported that the matter has already been taken up unofficially in the Chamber of Commerce with a view to seeing whether or not there may yet be time to save the day, and assure for Honolulu the things which are so badly needed.

UNION STREET

ed to the closing of Union street at all. The Brewer Estate, which is now putting up a concrete building on the corner of Union and Hotel streets, will, he affirms, also oppose the proposed closing.

Mistake to Close Union.

The argument is also being advanced by some that it would be a mistake to close Union street from a standpoint of utility or expediency. The best practice in city building, they say, aims to get away from the checker-board plan of city blocks, and

H. C. & S. CO.'S STOCK PAID UP

As forecast some time ago, the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Company's stockholders, at a meeting held on the 10th inst. in San Francisco, adopted a resolution to apply $7,687,245 from the surplus fund of the company to paying up the capital stock of $10,000,000 in full. Prior to this, but $2,312,755 of the capital had ever been called, and the earnings have since, besides paying dividends of 12 per cent, with various "extras," been accumulating a surplus which is finally sufficient to pay up the stock in full. In effect, it is practically the same as a stock dividend.

to run streets in radiating lines from common points. Union street naturally fits into this scheme, and therefore should not be disturbed. The proposition is made by these persons, however, to round off the sharp corner at the mauka-Waikiki junction of Hotel and Union streets similarly to that of the mauka-Ewa corner, thus forming a broad triangular section of street, the center of which might fittingly be adorned by a fountain or monument, and at the same time provide ample room for converging traffic.

HONOLULU STRIKES GUSHER.

San Francisco Chronicle, April 15: The Honolulu Consolidated has struck a gusher in well No. 4, on section 15, 32-24, which is now flowing about 5000 barrels a day. The oil is of twenty-seven gravity. The gusher is 3150 feet deep and is under control. There is considerable gas in the output.

A gusher has been developed in Lakeview well No. 8, on section 25, 13-24, a quarter of a mile east of the great gusher, since deceased. The flow is 3000 barrels a day of twenty-six Baume. The well is 2377 feet in depth.

SUGAR IS HELD FIRM AT 4:05

Alexander & Baldwin's private sugar cable from their New York office, this morning, says:
"Holders of raws are asking 4.05 and are firm at this price. Refiners are bidding .07 cents less."

STOCK MARKET REMAINS DULL

Another dull day was recorded on the local stock exchange. Aside from some 200 odd shares of McBryde which sold at the current rate of 9.12½, only two other transactions were recorded—5 shares of Ewa at 32.75, and 15 shares of Pahang Rubber at 20.50, this last an advance of 50 cents a share.

Between boards $18,000 of Olaa six per cent bonds were reported sold at 97; $12,000 McBryde 6s at 100, and $1000 Hilo Railroad Extension 6s at 94.50.

The market generally remains firm, but there is little activity in any line.

CYCLONE THOMPSON

tralia. His first bout was with Bandman Rice, the English heavyweight, to whom he lost a twenty-round decision.

He next hooked up with Dave Smith and again lost the decision at the end of twenty rounds of rousing fighting. Smith is also a light heavyweight.

In his third essay Thompson knocked out Jack Lester, Tommy Burns' protegee in the twentieth round, landing a haymaker at the end of the bout by possum tactics.

Lester obtained a return match and twenty rounds resulted in a draw verdict. In these two battles Lester weighed over 190 pounds. In the latter contest the papers gave the verdict to the American, but the referee thought otherwise.

Game Good Down Under.

"The game is good in Australia," said Thompson, considering the overplus of boxing material. McVea, Langford, Porky Flynn, John Barry and Clabby are all doing regular turns at Sydney Stadium.
"In the first fight between McVea and Langford, the latter was fat when he entered the ring. He underestimated the Oxnard negro and did not train as he should have done. At that, in my opinion, the worst he should have got was a draw."

"Johnson Deane, the theatrical man, and a close friend of McVea's, is aboard the Marama and received a wireless after the Langford-McVea fight from the latter stating that he had lost but would fight again on May 11. Who his opponent will be was not stated."

Thompson says that the Australians are looking forward to the return of Tommy Burns and states that he will get a fine reception should he elect to visit Kangaroo-land again.

He says that Dave Smith and Hughie Mehegan are going to the States via England.

Mehegan the Goods.

Mehegan, in Thompson's opinion, could give Wolgast a stiff tussle though he doesn't figure that he would beat the champion. He holds the Australian lightweight to be the classiest of all the Australian boxers and says that he fights American style and is particularly good at in-fighting.

Dave Smith, Thompson says, is a stand-off boxer of the English school weighing about 165 pounds. He does not look to see him achieve any great amount of success in the States.

Thompson thinks that if Jack Lester takes care of himself he will win fights. He has, however, acquired the unfortunate habit of neglecting his training and needs a disciplinarian for a trainer and manager.

Porky Flynn a Comer.

Thompson states that there are no promising heavyweights in Australia. He thinks very well of "Porky" Flynn, however, and says that his win over Jim Barry was an exceedingly meritorious performance as the Chicagoan put up the fight of his life.

"If Flynn is nursed along for three or four years and continues as he is doing now he is the likeliest white man to win back the world's championship of anyone that I know."

Jim Clabby's brother is aboard the S. S. Marama, as is Ivor Lawson, the champion cyclist.

The schooner Americana arrived at San Francisco from Newcastle with the captain missing. He was killed at sea by the Japanese cook. The crew testify to the brutality of the captain and declare the killing was done in self-defense.
